CONTESTED CASES.

Prediction that Beef Is Going Higher.

A STRIKE IN A ROLLING MILL.

Evidence in the Kniffin Murder Case.

The New Code of House Rules Not Yet Ready.

Opinion of a Chicago Beef Packer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—“We believe in higher beef and pork are trimming our sales that way,” said George H. Webster of Armour & Co. “Pork and beef have risen during the last two weeks and will go still higher. We expected higher prices during last year than those which prevailed, but various causes operated to keep off the advance. It has now come and to stay. Beef and pork will be higher this year than last and will be higher in 1891 than in 1890. There is a constantly increasing consumption without a corresponding increase in range productions.”

“Are the exports increasing?”
“No, the exports of beef and pork in 1889 were about the same as the preceding year; it is home consumption that is increasing; the population is growing fast, and the increase is greater in the cities and trade centers than in the farming districts, where some of the consumers are also producers of beef and pork.”

“It is stated that thousands of cattle are dying on the Northwestern ranches because of the deep snow?”
“I don't believe it; we have no such advice.”

The Montana Legislature Republican.
HELENA, Mon., Jan. 28.—The Supreme Court to-day decided the Thompson mandamus case by granting a peremptory writ, ordering the State Auditor to allow Thompson's bill for mileage and per diem. Thompson is a Republican member of the Legislature from Silver Bow county, being one of the five elected by throw-out in Tunnel precinct. The Court goes into the question of certificates and sustains the position of the Republicans, that the certificates from the State Canvassing Board are only prima facie evidence of membership in the Legislature. This decision makes the Republican body the legal Legislature.

Gladstone to the Front.
LONDON, Jan. 28.—Gladstone's usual circular to his supporters in the House of Commons just before the opening of the session of Parliament was published to-day. He says the condition of public affairs is not without some peculiar features, and that the questions to be considered at the opening of the session may be of pressing interest. The wording of the circular is unusual, and is taken to indicate an early discussion of the Pigott letters and other matters of vital importance to the Liberal and Home Rule members.

The Kniffin Murder Case.
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 28.—The Coroner's jury in the Kniffin murder case brought in a verdict this morning declaring that Mrs. Kniffin died from chloroform administered by persons as yet unknown, and further stating that the jury's labors had been hampered by the withholding of important evidence, which will come before the Grand Jury.

New Rules for the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Republican caucus was called to order this evening by Henderson of Illinois. Speaker Reed entered into a detailed explanation of the changes proposed to be made in the old rules.

The greatest harmony characterized the proceedings. It is evident, however, according to Reed's statement, that the new code could not be made ready for action in the House for several days to come, even should it be desirable to report earlier. Moreover, there was an opinion entertained by many members to the effect that more positive progress could be achieved in the disposition of contested election cases without the rules than usual. It is felt by some members that after a safe working majority has been secured under the operations of the general parliamentary law, the rigidity of the new code might be relaxed with benefit, and the Republicans might thus be relieved from the necessity of enacting a code which in time might perhaps be felt by themselves in full force.

Having thus practically reached a decision that election cases shall be considered before the code is adopted the question of ways and means arose, and there was a long discussion, which was simply a reflex of individual views, as to a possibility of securing and maintaining a quorum of Republicans to meet the Democratic opposition, which it was fully expected would take the shape of a refusal to vote.

It was finally determined that at least four Republican members could not be relied upon to answer to their names if the Democrats came to the conclusion to filibuster. Two of these are absent on account of sickness, one on account of sickness in his family and one absent without making his whereabouts known. According to this count, if everything favors the majority, and if no members fall ill or are called away, they will have a bare quorum.

Nevertheless the election case of Smith vs. Jackson will be called up Wednesday and fully debated, from the double motive, first to lay the foundation for the speedy disposition of other contests, and second to gain time in which to secure the attendance of absent members.

A resolution by Rowell was adopted to the effect that every Republican member should remain in the city except in case of sickness, and all should remain in the hall during the time the House was in session, unless prevented by sickness.

There was some show of opposition to a proposed change in the rules which tends to stop filibustering, by Anderson of Kansas and Cheadle of Indiana. Cheadle, however, signified his intention to fall in line with the party, and there are indications that Anderson will do likewise.

The Blackhead About Raised—The "Little Midget" Died To-day.

TRUCKEE, Jan. 28.—Mrs. McVeen and the “Little Midget” both died at Truckee to-day. This is the little woman that passed through Reno two weeks ago to-morrow.

There are about 300 feet of track to clear of snow at Cascade to clear them up. The rotary is broken down, but they have about 400 snow-shovelers at work, and they will have the track clear by 6 p. m.

A Stay Granted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Judge Van Brunt, the presiding Judge of the Supreme Court, to-day granted a stay in the case of John Most, pending an appeal to the Court of Appeals, from the judgment of conviction and sentence to a year's imprisonment, for making inflammatory speeches at a meeting held to condemn the Chicago authorities for the conviction and hanging of the Anarchists there. Most will be liberated on $5,000 bail.

John Brown's Family.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The Inter-Ocean to-day publishes a letter from Horatio N. Rust of South Pasadena, Cal., alleging the impoverished condition of the family of Captain John Brown of Ossawatimie, and requiring contributions to lift a mortgage on their house and lot at Pasadena. The contributions are to be sent to W. P. Nixon of the Inter-Ocean, or to H. N. Rust, South Pasadena, Cal.

A Determined Strike.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 28.—The employees of the Birmingham rolling mill, 1,000 in number, went out on a strike yesterday. The fight between the men and the company promises to be a long and bitter one. An effort to force the mill into the Amalgamated Association caused the strike.

Free Speech in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—Dr. Tanner, a member of the House of Commons for the middle division of Cork, has been required to furnish two sureties in £100, or to serve three months in prison for uttering threats against Smith Barry, head of the landlord syndicate. Dr. Tanner has appealed.

Congressional Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The House passed a bill providing that in cases of pension claims of dependent parents it shall be necessary only to show to the Pension Office that the parents are without other means of support than manual labor.

Among the memorials presented and referred was one from the Augusta (Me.) Board of Trade for the selection of New York as the site for the exposition of 1892.

Chandler also presented a memorial for the establishment of a republican form of government in the State of Mississippi.

Morrill introduced a bill authorizing the issue of treasury notes on deposits of silver bullion and had it referred to the Committee on Finance. He said that the committee had addressed a communication to the Secretary of the Treasury asking him to formulate a bill in accordance with his recommendations in relation silver; that the bill had been received without committing himself or any member of the committee to it, and he asked to have it printed and referred.

A resolution was offered by McMillan, and adopted, instructing the Library Committee to inquire and report as to the propriety of purchasing the Stanley collection of Indian historical paintings now in the custody of the Smithsonian Institute.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections to-day took up the Montana Senatorial election contest, but did nothing more than to set it down for hearing on Saturday, February 15th. Messrs. Clark and Maginnis, Democratic Senators elect, were present to hear the determination of the committee.

A favorable report has been ordered by the House Military Committee on a bill to retire General Fremont, with the rank of Major-General.

On motion of Sherman the Senate bill to relieve the Treasurer of the United States from the amount now charged to him and deposited with the several States, was taken from the calendar and passed.

On motion of Morrill, the bill to credit and pay to the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia, all moneys collected under the direct tax of 1861, was taken from the calendar and after some discussion was passed by a large vote.

Two Steamers Lost.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 28.—Close upon the heels of the disaster to the steamer Ohio of the Memphis & Cincinnati Packet Company, which sank last night below the falls at Louisville, comes the news this morning of the total loss of the steamer De Soto.

Captain M. M. Deem, who was in command, telegraphs that the steamer De Soto was burned at 2 o'clock this morning one mile below Owensboro, and that she is a total loss. A number of lives were lost.

Blaine's Vigorous Foreign Policy.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 27.—Herman Kempenski, a naturalized citizen, who visited Russia a year ago, was arrested for evasion of the military law and banished to Siberia. Secretary Blaine demanded his release, and a cablegram was received here to-day announcing that he has been set free.

Hurricanes and Snow Storm.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—Hurricanes continue in Northwest and Central Germany and much damage has been done in that section. A fearful snow storm is prevailing in Erzeberze.

A World's Fair Bill.

ALBANY, Jan. 28.—In the Assembly to-day the World's Fair bill passed without debate or amendment, with only one negative vote.

A Dead Brewer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Conrad Seipp, a well known brewer died here this afternoon.

The French Want Protection.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The Bureaus of the Chambers will to-day elect a tariff committee. The debates which have taken place in the various bureaus indicate that a majority of them will elect members of the committee who are in favor of protection.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE TRAINS.

The Situation a Little More Encouraging.

Preparations are being made to move some of the snow-bound trains west to-night, and if all goes well the passengers can have the chance of breathing other air than at Reno ere daylight appears again.

The Cyclone blow arrived at Truckee at 12:15 this afternoon, but did not do much work on the way up. There is nothing definite at this writing—2:30 p. m.—when trains will be moved west, but a train has already been made up, the steps taken off the coaches and sleepers, and all is in readiness to start when orders are received. It is not at all likely, however, that a mail will be in from the west before to-morrow.

THE V. & T.

News from the V. & T. is somewhat meager, but it is known that no attempt has been made to open the road to Carson, and the chances are that it will have to be shoveled the whole distance.

Getting Ready to Leave.

Orders were received this afternoon to send six cars of mail and express west at 3:20. It was near 4 o'clock, however, before they pulled out. Six sleepers were ordered to be in readiness to start west at a moment's notice. So it looks favorable for a speedy clearing out of the snow-bound passengers.

Undelivered Messages.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union office for Mrs. J. W. Doupree, H. Strong, John J. Shean, James Noble, J. Caldwell and George K. Hutchings.

BREVITIES.

Hon. S. C. Wright of the Carson Mint has been quite sick with influenza.

It is said that in Carson's history there was never so much sickness as at present.

The N. O. Club of Carson postponed the party they were to have had last Friday until next Friday, January 31st.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
STATE ASSAY OFFICE.

I have analyzed DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER bought by me in open market and have found it free from Alum and Ammonia and containing no deleterious ingredients of any kind. It makes fine light bread, and I can recommend it to all wishing pure and wholesome food.

LOUIS FALKENAU, formerly State Assayer, San Francisco, Jan. 25, 1890.

Better Times Coming.

The last straw apparently has been thrown on the back of the great western storm. It apparently has been broken and a prospect of fairer weather promises to be near at hand. The loss by the siege will affect, to a greater or less degree, every citizen of Nevada. The cattle and sheep industry will be the greatest sufferers. At this writing there is no possible means of estimating an approximate depletion of the stock in the State. Heroic efforts have been made to relieve the starving animals, yet their bones will be all that will be left of thousands and thousands of them. Some of our wealthiest and best citizens may be financially crippled by the visitation of the long lingering storm, which has been accompanied by the most intense cold weather, and to a certain extent caused a general stagnation in business. Were there not two sides to be considered, the outlook for Nevada might be deemed doleful. We have a class of citizens who know from practical experience how to meet and battle with reverses. Let the worst that may come, that worst will be only temporary.

With the great snowfall we are assured that the mountain and desert will abound in natural grasses the coming season; that the supply of water will meet any local demand for agricultural, milling and other purposes; that the grazing interest, while it may have a temporary setback, will soon regain its prosperity. With the gradual increase in the value of silver we may look for a new vigor in mining. Many of the almost abandoned camps have had new life infused in them. We should not nurse what appears to be our present misfortune. No amount of walling will better them. The thing to do is to accept the situation philosophically, and if we lose in one direction and cannot regain our losses there, to turn our energies in another. By clinging to such a policy we can convert our misfortunes into fortunes, and will soon forget any blight that has been occasioned by the ordeal we are passing through.

An Excellent Idea.

The Tuscarora Times-Review has the following under the head of "An Excellent Idea."

"The State Board of Trade has issued a circular letter to the press of Nevada, asking its co-operation in giving the resources and capabilities of every part of the State. It is proposed that the different papers each devote an issue to a description of its county. The circular says that the Boards of County Commissioners ought to be willing to pay the expense of preparing such a statement out of the public funds, and to provide cuts of the maps to be printed with them. The idea is a good one and we hope it will be adopted in this county. The resources and capabilities of Elko are as extensive as those of any county in the State, and they only need to be made known to insure them proper appreciation and the consequent investment of plenty of capital from abroad within our boundaries.

It would be a paying investment upon the part of the county, and we hope our Commissioners will make such arrangements with one of the papers at the county seat as will insure a proper representation of our resources in the circulars that will be issued by the Board of Trade.

SECRETARY WINDOM has written a letter to Representative Lind, of the House Committee on Commerce, recommending favorable action on the bills extending the privileges of the immediate transportation act to San Diego, Cal., and Wilmington, Cal., and adding that he perceives no reason for making Santa Barbara a port of entry, Los Angeles a port of delivery or Port Hartford a port of entry.

It has been estimated that the power exerted by the tail of a whale eighty feet long and twenty feet across the flukes of the tail, in propelling it at the rate of twelve miles an hour, is equal to the power of 145 horses.

PERSONNEL OF CONGRESS.

Where Born and Some of Their Ages.

Only nine States can say that their entire Congressional delegates were born within their borders. One of these is Maine. Among the others are New Hampshire and Rhode Island. Only three of Michigan's delegation of thirteen were born within that State, and only one of Wisconsin's eleven, while the entire delegation of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, Texas, California and Nevada were born either in other states or foreign countries. The explanation, of course, is obvious. All of these are new, or comparatively new, States, and have been filled up with Eastern immigration. Two hundred and twenty-six Senators and Representatives were born in the States which they represent, and 184 in other States or foreign countries. New York bases off the palm for furnishing the largest number of members of the two branches of her younger sister. She can boast of thirty-one, against twenty from Ohio, sixteen from Pennsylvania, eight from Indiana, and only four from Massachusetts. Senator Wolcott of Colorado, who is forty-one, is the youngest member of the upper branch, and the oldest Senators are Messrs. Morrill and Payne, who are nearly eighty. Mr. Wagner of New York, who is twenty-nine, is the youngest member of the House, and the late Judge Kelly of Pennsylvania was the oldest.

DANGEROUS PURGATIVES.

A City Policeman's Very Peculiar Experience.

Mineral pills and drastic purgatives irritate the mucous coating of the stomach and bowels. In fact their cathartic action is due to their irritation. The danger attending their steady use is apparent. The new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla gets its cathartic action by increasing the mucous secretions and gently stimulating the stomach. It is purely vegetable, does not lose its effect, and is safe to be taken occasionally or continuously. Gus Videau, the well known police officer of 126 Howard St., San Francisco, writes: "After my own experience I firmly believe that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla will cure the most obstinate cases of constipation. Although cured I am still taking it and never had my system so thoroughly regulated. By increasing or diminishing the dose one has absolute command over himself with this valuable remedy."

Eupespy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it, to fully enjoy life. Thousands are searching for it daily and morning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee the Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you good digestion, and out Dyspepsia, and install instead Eupespy. We recommend Electric Bitters for Dyspepsia and all diseases of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Sold at 50c and $1 per bottle by W. Pinniger druggist.

Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought an other and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For further particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, druggist, 20 Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful Discovery free by W. Pinniger's drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, oozes, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. WINDLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

South Dakota People in a Starving Condition.

A Chicago dispatch of the 22d inst. reads as follows: An Associated Press reporter just returned from the North-west brings with him a tale of terrible suffering and destitution in nineteen counties of South Dakota, gathered from persons who have but recently been eye-witnesses of what they so graphically describe. T. E. Paxter, a well-to-do business man of Shabbona, De Kalb county, this State, who spent some days in the afflicted districts, says: "However hard landsharks and other interested parties may try to keep the true state of things from the people of this country, they cannot long be successful. The successive failure of three years' crops has reduced those even formerly well-to-do to a condition of the sorest distress. Many thousands of families are crowded without means of any kind. They lack the wherewithal to purchase the necessities of life.

"In Minner county," Paxter said, "they have no flour, the staple of life being badly-ground corn meal, and there is a notable insufficiency of that. Every farm is mortgaged, in many cases for more than its sale under present prices would realize. Most of the stock has been levied on and sold by the Sheriff at public auction, the ridiculously low prices obtained being eloquent, not only of the starving condition of the cattle, but the scarcity of means in the community. Cows are fetching as low as $5 apiece, horses $8 and $10, while sheep and pigs are simply unsalable, there being nothing to feed them with. Women and children bear evidence of the hardships they have undergone in their pinched and meagre faces. In many instances they are quite unprovided with clothing with which to withstand the rigors of winter, what they now have being in a ragged and worn condition.

"Flour is most needed," said Paxter, "especially in Kingsbury and Minner counties. Clothing for the men and children and provisions of any kind just now would be a God send to thousands who are in a semi-starving condition. Unless relief is given with a liberal hand this winter in South Dakota, you will hear of many deaths from absolute starvation and the reports will undoubtedly have foundation in fact."

Mrs. D. C. Cleveland of Edmond, S. D., confirms Paxter's story. This lady is now in Minneapolis, where she is making heroic efforts in behalf of the sufferers.

Last Night's Fire.

About 1 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded and the whole heavens lighted up on the north side of the track. The bell rang for twenty minutes, and by that time a great many people had congregated on Fourth street, below the Elko, to witness the scene of the conflagration. The fire was in a blacksmith shop built on a hill, and was not wind and the flames went high into the air. The citizens did good work in shoveling snow onto the adjoining buildings, and cooled the fire by the snow process. Our "fire department" was as usual behind time. It is thought to have been incendiary.

Substantial Damages.

At Chicago on the 22d inst. the jury in the United States Circuit Court awarded Henry Bush damages of $40,000 in his suit against the Northern Pacific Railroad. In October, 1888, Bush was fireman on a construction train in Idaho, which was run into and wrecked by a freight train. Bush was so badly injured that he lost the use of his legs completely. He charged negligence on the part of the division superintendent in not notifying him that the extra freight was on the road.

Pioche Odd Fellows.

The Record of the 18th inst. says: The following officers-elect for the ensuing term of Pioche Lodge, No. 23, I. O. O. F., were installed Tuesday evening: C. B. Ball, J. P. G.; E. F. Freudenthal, N. G.; F. W. Newton, V. G.; T. E. Edwards, R. S.; H. W. Turner, T.; A. Adelman, J. O. Gelabert, H. W. Turner, Trustees; C. W. Roeder, R. S. N. G.; James Mook, L. S. N. G.; S. H. Carnan, R. S. V. G.; H. Tracy, L. S. V. G.; A. Adelman, W.; J. O. Gelabert, G.

The Indians Object.

In a recent communication to the United States Senate, William L. Byrd, Governor of the Chickasaw Nation, protested against the proposed establishment of a territorial form of government of Oklahoma, as a violation of the treaty of 1890. He says such a change would tend to the annihilation of the Indian tribes in the Indian Territory.

A Lunatic Attacks Bishop Whitaker.

A Philadelphia dispatch of yesterday says: Dick Alexander, the young man who attempted to assassinate Bishop Whitaker yesterday, was arrested this morning. Surgeons examined the prisoner and found him a religious monomaniac, with homicidal tendencies. He was committed for trial at the present term.

PERSONAL.

Judge Bigelow is quite ill at his residence.

C. T. Bender is out again, but looks a little rocky.

Uncle Jake McKissick is still confined to his room at the Golden Eagle Hotel.

A Sad Case.

A lady passenger who was called from the East to the bedside of her sick husband in San Francisco, and who has been blockaded here for ten or twelve days, received the sad news of her husband's death yesterday.

Will Soon Be Open.

Billy Noyes, who came in this morning from the Longley ranch, thinks a V. & T. train will soon be in, basing his belief on the fact that he saw two men shoveling snow at Huffaker's as he came by.

HIGHEST AWARD IN OUR CLASS!

WE LEAD THEM ALL!

Bronze Medal! Bronze Medal!

There is no proprietary medicine in the world that has grown into popularity and favor in so short a period of time as the remedy known as THE GREAT SIERRA KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE. The Sierra Chemical Co., manufacturers of these valuable goods is composed of bright, active Californians, of thorough and long experience in their line of business. They have shown wonderful enterprise in bringing before the public a purely vegetable compound, the chief ingredients of which are composed of herbs gathered on the sides and in the canons of the noted Sierra range of mountains, from which this remedy takes its name. At the MECHANICS' EXHIBITION, 1889, this company were awarded the highest premium given to medicines—A BRONZE MEDAL. The committee that pronounced this verdict was composed of the two leading analytical professors on this coast, viz: Professors RISING and WENTZEL. This goes to prove its superiority over all other preparations. Delightful to the taste and as a positive cure for all Kidney, Liver and Bladder troubles it has no equal on earth.

All druggists sell these valuable goods. TAKE NO OTHERS. OSBURN & SHOEMAKER, Agents.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

There is still a good deal of sickness in Reno.

Diphtheria is said to be prevalent in Truckee.

Russell & Bradley sent four cars of hay to Elko yesterday.

The railroad company have lost fully $1,000,000 by the blockade.

Two weeks to-morrow since the last train came through from the west.

At daylight this morning the mercury touched two degrees below zero.

The V. & T. will need a "rotary" or something else before they get through.

The snow is all gone on the Smoke creek desert and stock is reported as doing well.

The annual meeting of the Orr Water Ditch Company has been postponed to Saturday, February 15th.

"What's the latest from the blockade?" is a question that has been asked at least 2,000 times a day for the past two weeks.

A train of 10 cars was made up here yesterday and sent to Elko to transport a part of Russell & Bradley's stock to Wadsworth.

The Elko Free Press says that George Keyes, who recently died at the above town, was a brother-in-law of Superintendent Jerry Whited.

Marcus Fredrick's Commercial Rogar stand is the place to go for both smoking and chewing tobacco and the best imported and domestic cigars.

Sheriff Bernard of Elko county, who is snowbound here on his way to the State Prison with a couple of convicts, begins to fear that his men will die of old age before he is able to deliver them to Warden McCullough.

If you have catarrh, you are in danger, as the disease is liable to become chronic and aff- of your general health, or develop into consumption. Ho-r's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by purifying and clearing the blood and building up the system. Give it a trial.

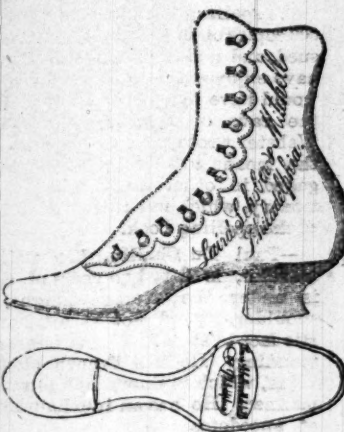

WHITE METAL CHAMPION.

Senator Teller Talks for Silver.

A Washington dispatch of the 27th inst. reads as follows: Senator Teller of Colorado to-day made an argument before the House Committee on Coinage on the subject of silver coinage. He expressed his disapprobation of the Windom bill, regarding it as hostile to the silver-producing interests of the country. He looked upon the silver question as one of the most important before Congress. It was not a local question, but was general in its nature, and the depression in business circles all over the world was largely due to the treatment of silver by the United States Government. The Windom bill, he declared, was illogical, and was a Wall street nobelizer. It had been prepared by men who had not studied the silver question, by bankers of New York, and bankers were not thorough students of financial questions from a broad standpoint. It was very likely, he said, that the price of silver would be increased if the bill should be enacted into law, but he would not support it on that account. He said in the proposition to issue Treasury notes in return for the deposit of silver bullion made it appear as though silver was merely a commodity, which would go into various sub-treasuries and other places that were to receive it, as a warehouse commodity. If the Government recognized this principle concerning silver, there was no reason why it should not be applied to pig iron and corn. It thus took away from silver its money use, which, after all, was its chief function. The feature of the bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to suspend the receipt of silver bullion was also objectionable in his opinion and might lead to suspicion and to impatience to the Secretary being disowned, which, though they might not be true, would make an unfortunate condition of affairs. Public officers might be always honest men, in using this opinion, he said, but not discreet, which would be just as bad. So far as the general effect was concerned, the very moment an order was given suspending the receipt of bullion, the price of silver would go down and a general bad effect on the business of the country.

fect on the business of the country would be the result. Teller thought the United States was capable of controlling the silver question by adopting a policy of free coinage, and this, he said, was the only legitimate method of treating the question, although he was in doubt whether a bill of that sort could escape a veto by the President. If silver is denied access to the mints, the price of gold will increase in the same relation as corn increases in price if no wheat is milled.

A CHAPTER ON HAZE.

How It Differs From an Ordinary Fog.

Professor F. A. R. Russell, in Nature, says: Unlike fog, haze commonly occurs in this country when the lower air is in a state of unusual dryness. It is not only a frequent accompaniment of a spell of fine dry weather, but may be, when in combination with certain other conditions, a sign of its approach. Night or morning fogs, and in winter persistent fogs, often signify a calm and settled condition of the air and the prevalence of fair weather. Heavy dews, especially in the autumn, likewise portend fine weather, but usually of shorter duration. Fogs appear in usually one of two conditions—either the air is nearly saturated up to a considerable height, or else is unusually dry, except in a stratum immediately above the ground. In the first case, radiation or condensation from some cause produces, by a slight lowering of temperature, a large precipitation of vapor; and in the second case, radiation from the earth's surface being excessive, owing to the diathermancy of the dry atmosphere, the stratum next the ground rapidly reaches its dew point, fog is formed, and this fog continues to radiate to the clear sky and further to reduce temperature.

Haze, on the other hand, appears often in weather distinguished by dryness on the surface as well as at a considerable altitude above the ground. The air remains for many days uniformly dry, the nights being nearly dewless, and the sky often free from clouds. The chief difference to be observed, then, is this, that fog requires saturation where it occurs, while haze seems to be favored rather by a dry atmosphere.

Two principal factors go to the production of ordinary haze: the first a rather large amount of vapor between the earth and a great altitude, say 60,000 feet; and the second, a mixture of two heterogeneous masses of air.

It would hardly be reasonable to exclude electricity as a possible agent in the otherwise not wholly accountable phenomena of the mist and cloud. It may be that the dust particles of two currents of air differing in electric quality or quantity may be attracted to each other, or that the mixture of currents of different temperature may in some way set up molecular aggregations.

Whatever the cause, we should bear in mind the small quantity of non-transparent matter required to produce the dimming effect of haze. If the eye can observe the color produced in a drop of water by the fifty-millionth of a gramme of fuchsine, possibly a weight of water or dust not much greater would suffice for visibility in a column of air 1,000 feet long. The atmosphere is six times charged with dust particles to a degree which is difficult to realize. The purest air tasted by Mr. Aiken previous to his measurements on the top of Ben Nevis contained about 34,000 particles to the cubic inch—this was on the Ayrshire coast. In every cubic foot there would be 35,232,000 particles, and in a horizontal column of 1,000 feet 35,232,000,000 particles. It is manifest that a condensation upon a small proportion of these, or an agglomeration of a small proportion into larger groups, or a momentary adhesion by electric attraction, would suffice to produce optical effects.

The opinion concerning the appearance of haze by irregular transmission of light due to unequally heated currents of transparent air seems to be quite unsatisfactory, and however great the heat near the surface of the ground, say in the desert, with consequent distortion of images, it does not, as a rule, bring about the haze so common in temperate climates.

Haze of an abnormal kind need hardly be mentioned here—namely, that due to smoke, palpable dust, and the products of volcanoes. It may however, be very widely spread and very dense. In 1783 Europe was for months covered by the dust ejected by an Icelandic volcano, and the Atlantic for 900 miles west of the northwest coast of Africa is every year subject to a haze composed of fine particles of sand from the Great Desert.

Nature in Convulsion.

Is terrible. Volcanic eruptions, cyclones, earthquakes are awfully and tremendously picturesque, but scarcely desirable to emulate in action and effect by the administration of remedies which produce convulsion and agony in the abnormal portion of the human frame. Such is the effect of the fashionable violent purgatives happily falling more and more into disuse, and of which "roster's" Stomach Bitters is the wholesome, pleasant and far more effective substitute. They weakened the intestines, the bitters invigorates them. They let the bowels inactive, because incapacitated by enusing febrile. The bitters on the contrary, and because it enables not force them to act—a real and fortunate difference—perpetuates their activity and regularity. The liver is beneficially stimulated, as the kidneys also are, by this medicine, which easily conquers, also, malaria, nervousness and rheumatism.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to D. S. Hickman, prothonotary of said county, to be and to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be rendered against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover against you a judgment and decree of divorce on the complaint of the plaintiff herein, in which complaint she alleges that you and her were united in marriage at Reno, in the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, January 27, 1888; that you and plaintiff have not lived or cohabited as husband and wife since said August 30, 1888; that you have not at any time since said marriage contributed to her support; that you went away from Reno, after id, about the first of November, 1888; that you absconded with plaintiff's property, and have not since said August 30th recognized her as your wife; that she charges against you abandonment and failure to support her and a failure to provide for her the common necessities of life for more than one year preceding her complaint and filed, which failure to support and provide for her is not a result of poverty that could not have been avoided by your ordinary industry. She claims against you the custody of your minor child, on the ground that you are incompetent to care for him to have dominion over him, all of which will be fully and completely proved by the evidence on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred.

And you are further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded and for costs of suit.

COTTON MILL SCENES.

Processes Employed to Convert Raw Cotton into Prime Sheetings.

The cotton used is brought at various Southern points. It arrives here in cars. On its arrival the bales, which contain about 500 pounds each of cotton, are put in a building adjoining the picker room; this is called the mixing room. The cotton is first run through the willow, revolving 2,500 revolutions a minute, remove most of the dust. It next goes through a fine picker where still more dust is removed, then it goes through the finishing picker where it is rolled up into laps. This machine is regulated by an ingenious governor so that the laps are of uniform size. The laps of cotton pass on to the card room where the fiber is disentangled, brushed and combed, then it is deposited in beautiful fleeces on an endless belt, which conducts it to the railway head, where the straightened fiber is contracted into a narrow ribbon and is deposited in a revolving can ready for the next process. The cards which straighten the fiber of the cotton are clothed with a needle-pointed wire which are kept sharp, being ground by an automatic grinder, a machine which has yielded its inventor a good many dollars. The grinder is attached to a card in the morning and by night has it ground sharp. From the railway head the cotton goes to the drawing frames, and when it has passed through two of them the twelve strands have been merged into one. Automatic fingers stop these machines on the breakage of any one of the strands. It next visits the coarse spinner which very swiftly winds in on bobbins, and then the fine spinner which twists together two strands from the coarse spinner. One half of the cotton from the spinners goes to the spinning mules, where rapid revolving spindles twist it into thread, winds it into a cop ready for the weaver. The other half goes to the eighteen spinning frames where it is spun on bobbins ready for the spoolers, the girls working at the spoolers run the thread off the bobbins on to large spools. Three hundred and sixty of these spools are placed in a warper and with a whirl are made to take their place on a large beam, six of these beams are next taken to the slasher, a machine that was built in England and imported to this country. When the thread is passing through the slasher it is treated to boiling starch, which is called sizing. After passing through the sizing it emerges from the slasher onto a beam one yard wide, which, when filled, holds 2,100 threads, each 640 yards long. These are then harnessed by hand, making a complete warp ready for the loom. These beams are then taken to the weave room, where there are 132 looms making a deafening noise weaving into the warp the cop thread from the spinning mules. From the loom the cloth goes to the finishing-room—from there to the folder, and after being stamped, weighed and baled we now have the finished sheeting.—Des Moines (Ia.) Register.

STARTLING GLUTTONY.

Hogs in Human Shape Discovered in Various Parts of the World.

The Hottentots, Bushmen and savage South African races generally are enormous gluttons. Ten of them, says Barrow, ate in my presence the whole of an ox all but the hind legs in three days, and the three Boersmen that accompanied my wagon devoured a sheep on one occasion in less than twenty-four hours. In cold climates such feasts as these would only be trifles, and Parry and Ross have recorded cases that, were they not well attested, would pass belief. Sir Edward Parry once tried the capacity of an Esquimaux scarcely fully grown, and this interesting young savage contrived, in twenty-four hours, to devour four pounds four ounces of the raw, hard-frozen flesh of a sea-horse, the same quantity of it boiled, one pound twelve ounces of bread and bread-dust, a pint and a quarter of rich gravy soup, a tumbler of strong port, three wine-glasses of raw spirit and nine pints of water. Sir John Ross, indeed, believed that the daily rations of an Esquimaux were twenty pounds of flesh and blubber, but in extension of so enormous a consumption as this, the severity of the climate must be taken into account. Captain Cochrane, on the authority of the Russian Admiral Saricheff, tells how one of the Yakuts had consumed the hind quarter of a large ox in twenty-four hours, together with twenty pounds of fat and a proportionate quantity of melted butter. As the man had already gorged himself in this disgusting fashion it hardly seemed possible that he would be able to consume any more, but the worthy Russian Admiral, to test him, gave the savage a thick porridge of rice boiled with three pounds of butter, weighing together twenty-eight pounds. The glutton sat down to this abundant banquet, although he had just partaken of breakfast, and without stirring from the spot or showing any sign of inconvenience, got through the whole. Captain Cochrane adds that a good large calf, weighing two hundred pounds, will just make a meal for four or five Yakuts, and that he has seen three of them consume a whole reindeer at one meal. The feats of English working-men, on their annual club feast day, would surpass belief; a leg of mutton has not been found too much for one man. Dr. Darwin, the father of Charles Darwin, had the reputation of being a glutton, and is reported to have called a goose—a favorite Salop dish—an inconvenient one, as being too much for one and not enough for two.—Cornhill Magazine.

Such Strange Folks.

Uncle Anthony Preferred to Lose Money to Having Dealings with Them.

Anthony Phillips is a well-known citizen of Little Rock. He is something of a politician, having at different times worked with the Democratic and Republican parties; but his chief distinction is that he is the blackest negro in Arkansas. The other day Anthony went into a life insurance office and asked for the man who paid out the money.

"What do you want?" the manager asked.

"I want er thousand dollars," the negro answered. "Er bout three months ago I had my wife's life insured in this company an' now I want my money, fur de lady is dun dead. Yere de papers, yere da is, sah."

"What was the matter with her?" the manager asked.

"Got drowned, sah; was down in de country an' fell offen er foot-log inter de water an' drowned ez dead as er mackerel."

"Did anybody see her when she fell in?"

"Yas, little gal seed her; oh, she fell in all right, an' now of you'll jest count me out er thousand dollars I'll be mighty 'bliged ter you. Yas, fell in all right enough."

"Did the coroner hold an inquest over her?" the manager asked.

"N-n-n-no, sah, he didn'."

"Why?"

"Well, sah, me an' dat man doan speak ter one nuder. We ain't on de same quality er tall now, sah. Wife she got mad wid him some time ergo an' den me an' him fell out, an' when my wife wuz tuck outen de bayon dead and gone, w'y I didn't think it wuz jest de right thing ter hab dat coroner hold in his procedin's over her."

"So you buried her without the coroner being notified."

"Yas, sah, dat's whut we done—zackly whut we done under de 'zisting circumstances, sah. Yas, we done dat."

"Where did you bury her?"

"Huh—oh, whar did we bury her?"

"That's what I asked."

"Yas, tibby soh. We set her 'way off yander whar her sister liles, sah. Uster say dah wen she died she wanted ter be buried 'way off yander, case she tuck er likin' ter dat country."

"What is the name of the place?"

"Oh, it's er little bit er place, sah; 'tain't ez big ez Argeny jes' erross de river yere. Yas, mighty little, no 'count kind o' er place—so little dat you wouldn't know it if you wuz ter see it, sah."

"I don't care any thing about the size. What is the name?"

"Oak Bluff is de name o' de place, ef dat's whut you wanter know. 'Way off yander an' er small place, too."

"Well, no matter how far nor how small. We'll send a man out there to dig her up and bring her back here before we pay you; but mind you, if she can't be found, we'll have you sent to the penitentiary for ten years."

"Oh, well, now, ef dat's de way you do business you neenter send after de lady. Jes' let de blame money go. I 'spize ter hab dealin's wid sich strange folks."—Arkansas Traveler.

A SHARP REASONER.

How Uncle Silas Henks "Slung" Law All Over an Attorney.

Silas Henks called on a lawyer. Instating the object of his visit he said:

"Some time ergo, shortly after I come ter dis town, I tuck up bo'd wid Miz Hempy, er widdy lady. I wa'n't doin' no work at dat time, an' I didn' pay up reglar, an' after while de fack come ter my knowledge dat I owed de lady fifty dollars. She come ter me an' said dat ef I didn' git her de money at once suthin' wud happen, an' I thinkin' dat it wud be better of suthin' I did happen, I drapped on my knees, so ter speak, an' tole de lady dat I lubed her, an' then axed her ter be my wife. She 'greed ter de proposition, an' we wuz married, an' I 'gratulated mysef dat one deb wuz settled, anyhow. Wall, whut do you reckon has come ter pass now?"

"You want a divorce now, I suppose," the lawyer answered.

"Oh, no, sah; ain't been thinkin' er bout no divo'ce. De case now stan's de way now, sah. Ez I tells you, when I married de lady I didn't hab nuthin'. Wall, I got a sort o' er start after I wuz married, an' it wa'n't er great w'ile till I wuz wuth a putty a'vage sorter cow, er chunk o' er boss, er dray an' er few dollars in money, but, sah, whut has come ter pass? My wife looks wid er jealous eye on my property."

"Does what?"

"Looks wid er jealous eye, sah; wants me ter pay dat blamed bo'd bill."

"Well, why don't you pay her?"

"I doan't feel like payin' her, an' I has come ter ax ef you will sort o' gin me some advice."

"If you owe her, pay her. That's the only way I see out of it."

"Ah, hah, but hol' on er minit. I owed Miz Hempy, an' now Miz Henks wants de money. I doan owe Miz Henks. I neber bo'ded wid her; I libs wid her. Now, ef Miz Hempy wants de money, all right, but dar ain't no Miz Hempy. Haw, haw!" he laughed. "Didn't know I wuz sich er lawyer ez dis yere. White jussan, git outen de way. I ken figger law all ober you."—Arkansas Traveler.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

—George Kennan, the writer of the articles on the horrors of the Siberian prisons, has been made a member of the Polish National Alliance in token of his good work in the cause of humanity.

—The late Zachariah Stoyanoff, president of the Bulgarian Parliament, and the most forceful political leader and ablest writer on civil subjects in that country, was once a penniless herd-boy.

—Bret Harte, who has a great social as well as literary popularity in England, is now a handsome, ruddy, white-haired man, and owes his popularity in a measure to his mastery of Western slang.

—Mr. George W. Childs, in his reminiscences of Grant, in Lippincott's, says: "There is nothing I ever heard him say that could not be repeated in the presence of women. He never used profane language. He was very temperate in eating and drinking."

—Pierre Loti, the French novelist, lives the life almost of a recluse. He detests progress and invention and avoids the books and journals of the day. At one time he lived in Turkey, and while there adopted the dress and manner of life of the people. He still has a love for Oriental luxury, and has fitted his house up accordingly. He is a man of wealth and can therefore live as his fancy dictates.

SUCH STRANGE FOLKS.

—A toy shop-keeper living at Bury St. Edmunds, a town in Suffolk County, Eng., was the original of Smike, one of Dickens' characters in "Nicholas Nickleby." He says there was no exaggeration of the condition of affairs at the hall, and corroborates every thing, even to the administration by Mrs. Squeers of her favorite remedy of "four of brimstone and molasses." He ran away from the school when he was fifteen years old.

—The most profitable book ever printed, at least in this country, was Webster's spelling book. More than 50,000,000 copies of this production have been issued, and could Dr. Webster and his heirs have enjoyed the royalties from it they would have found it more valuable than the cave of Monte Cristo. Yet Dr. Webster wrote it that he might procure the means to support himself while engaged in other work, notably his dictionary, which was really an elaboration of the spelling book.

—Paul Du Chaillu, the writer and traveler, is fifty-two years of age. He is under the average height, round-shouldered, and not at all handsome. His face is strong and his forehead commanding. He has French blood in his veins, which is shown by his vivacity of manner. He has an inexhaustible fund of anecdotes, and his conversational powers are great. He has done a vast amount of work, but is in fine health. His long journeys in African jungles do not seem to have injured his constitution at all.

—I remember that Louisa Alcott once showed me a card she had just received inviting her to a distinguished gathering of literary celebrities, and adding, in a flattering footnote, some such assurance as that without her presence the gathering would be like a ring without its jewel, says a writer in the Commonwealth. "Do you know how that makes me feel?" she said. "As if some one I knew had died of starvation, and then bread in plenty had been heaped upon her grave. The girl in me, to whom such a letter and such a bidding as that would have been a joy like wine, died long ago. The tired woman who bears her name grieves for her sake that all this comes too late."

ORIENTAL FOOTGEAR.

Chinese and Japanese Care More for Ease Than for Style.

Modern footgear is certainly a monumental, but it can not be said to be comfortable. For ages the popular fallacy that a small foot indicates good blood and gentle breeding has caused people to cramp and distort their feet until the chiropodists flourish all over the land.

Oriental, having no such notions, pay more attention to ease than style, and consequently a chiropodist would starve in India, China or Japan.

The Chinese shoe is light, and at the same time stout and serviceable. It is warm in winter and cool in summer, and has the additional recommendation of being cheap; but it is not slightly to our eyes.

In the Japanese shoe the hollow in front of the heel is made for the sake of lightness, and suggests the origin of the heel made on most of our leather shoes. The Japanese in their houses wear light shoes or slippers, with woven soles without heels, or else go in their stocking feet.

These stockings are made with thick soles, and are divided like mittens, there being a place for the big toe and another compartment for the four lesser toes. This bifurcation of the stocking enables the wearer to put on the shoe described above and get a good grip on it with his toe.

Japanese peasants wear, also, a rude wooden shoe raised on stilts, like the Persian ceremonial shoe.

One of the simplest forms of shoes is that worn in Singapore and India. It is merely a wooden sole, with raised heel and toe, and a peg or post in front. The shoe is adjusted with this peg between the big toe and its neighbor and the shoe is held on by a muscular effort of the toes.—Golden Days.

ADVICE FOR EMPLOYEES.

Principles Whose Observance Can Not Fail to Prove Beneficial.

There are certain fundamental principles of conduct which every workman should cultivate, the observance of which in the end will prove beneficial to all concerned.

Be punctual. The employer always appreciates the workman who can be depended on under all circumstances. The habit of being promptly on time when work commences can not be too highly estimated.

Work full time. Men should not be watched or driven, and yet there are many workmen who are but time-servers, and who work only when in the presence of an employer. It is your duty either to give your full time and best efforts to the interests of your employer or leave his service.

Do your best. Make it a point to serve your employer honestly, and, although you may not earn the wages paid to a brother workman, because of his superior ability or experience, do your best in the work laid out for you; you are thus fitting yourself for greater undertakings in the future.

Be ambitious. Make it a part of your duty to study and to learn from your fellow-workmen. We can all learn to do better each succeeding day; you are thus fitting yourself for greater responsibilities, and your service is daily becoming more valuable to your employer, and, as consequence, you are daily becoming more capable of earning advanced wages.

Be studious. Let your walks, talks and reading be in the line of your trade; study its history and future; resolve to master its details and to practice them; set your mark of perfection high, and strive to reach it. Do not stop at a middle place; be first in your trade, and remember that he who is faithful to the end will receive his just reward.—Manufacturer and Builder.

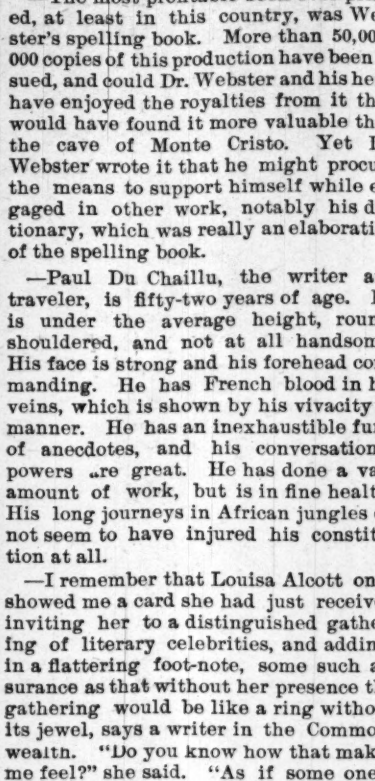

Fashions in Bed-Clothes.

The latest caprice of rich and dainty ladies is the penchant for silk sheets, richly embroidered in delicate silk flosses. One of these costly affairs is of pale lavender, with a wreath of violets embroidered around it and violet sachets fastened in the corners. The heavier quilt beneath is filled with lavender-colored down, sprinkled with dried violets. A new bed-spread, in marked contrast, is made of linen sheeting embroidered all over with white silk in bold conventional designs wrought out in "short and long," or "grandmother's stitch."
